

Stories of freedom

LENT SMALL GROUP STUDIES

We have been created to know freedom and to live in pure relationship with God, one another, and creation.

But we don't always live in that way.
We often fracture these relationships,
placing ourselves in bondage.

This Lent, let us gather to learn how repentance can restore us
to a place where we know the freedom
God intended for our lives.

We are combining across the Northern Suburbs cluster to host study groups exploring this freedom together. You're welcome to attend any of these groups, however it's best to commit to the group throughout the study to enable good relationships to form. Please contact the host/organiser for the group to say you're coming and to confirm starting date – that way we'll check groups have enough copies of the study too.
